Overview

For those who wish to live where busy lives are balanced by the serenity of an unspoiled setting, a place where mountain trails climb high above the early morning mist, Polygon brings you Ledgeview at Dayanee Springs, Polygon's new master planned community at the base of Coquitlam's Westwood Plateau. This unique neighbourhood has another nature too, one with a distinctly urban pulse. From here every service amenity is only minutes away: Evergreen Cultural Centre, West Coast Express, Douglas College, and more.

Imagine a brilliant interpretation of West Coast Architecture. A residence seemingly integrated with the hillside from which it rises. This is Ledgeview by award winning Raymond Letkeman Architects. Impeccably designed in every detail, the concept of natural harmony is graciously articulated in large picture windows, natural earth tone colours, heavy timber accents, cedar shingles, and cultured ledgestone. All is sophisticated in this collection of one, two, and three bedroom apartment residences. With luxurious spa inspired bathrooms, designer kitchens and private patios you will always be relaxing in total comfort.

As a resident of Ledgeview you will have the opportunity to enjoy The Timbers Club, an inviting, invigorating, sanctuary where leisure hours unfold in harmony. With 7,500 square feet of resort-inspired amenities, it is a place for Ledgeview residents to gather with friends and neighbours, share special moments, rest, restore, join in or just relax.
