Time is running out to visit the Tate Downtown presentation centre, which will be closing in the fall so construction can begin on the 40-storey tower.

Visit the facility at #100 — 1265 Howe Street to check out the Cristina Oberti-design interiors featuring high-end kitchen appliances from Miele and Bloomberg, European cabinetry, quartz countertops, luxurious bathrooms, expansive windows and stunning views.

You'll also get a chance to learn more about Tate Downtown's resort-style amenities, which include a communal lounge with kitchen and dining area, terrace garden complete with a water feature and sheltered courtyards, fireside lounge and library with over-height ceilings, fully-equipped fitness facility, yoga studio, change rooms and showers.

After you leave the facility, walk around the neighbourhood to see what Tate residents will have right outside their doors: Yaletown, the Granville entertainment district, city beaches, the seawall, parks, bike lanes and rapid transit.

Nice, right? The Tate Downtown presentation centre is open daily (except Fridays) from noon to 5pm. Go check it out.
