THE BEASLEY 888 HOMER ST., VANCOUVER AMACON

Sun

Saturday, October, 06, 2012

Conceived as a truly one of a kind tribute to both the City of Vancouver and its highly regarded city manager Larry Beasley, this Amacon project champions four pillars of exemplary urban design: sustainability, heritage restoration, affordable housing, and mixed use development. By having residences close to office and retail components, the individual resident's urban footprint is greatly reduced, lessening the need for cars and transportation. Cyclical energy-sharing between the residential, office, and retail space is based on the time of day and when energy is needed the most. The tower has been layered so that the floors get smaller as the tower ascends, as if three buildings of different height were consolidated into one tower.

Heritage restoration was demonstrated by the rejuvenation of The Homer, an Edwardian-style landmark which retains the façade and as many interior features as possible in a building that had been diminished with age and neglect. The Homer building has, in fact, been completely re-imagined as an affordable, single-resident-occupancy apartment which has been praised by community activists familiar with the housing challenges in downtown Vancouver.

The Beasley combines market residential, rental residential, office retail, restaurant, and a large single family home. All of these uses coexist in a very animated assembly, at once providing for a free-flowing mix of residents, workers, shoppers, and diners. So much more than just another housing development, The Beasley pays homage to the honest values that are shaping Vancouver's ever-changing dynamics.

Even dogs (and their owners) love The Beasley, since it houses the city's first dog deck or "woof-top patio" on the 8th floor.

THE BEASLEY

Address: 888 Homer St. (at Smithe)

Developer: Amacon

Levels: 33

Units: 218

Estimated Completion: Late 2011, early 2012.

Located in Downtown Vancouver, this building is right where Yaletown meets Downtown. Very conveniently located, if you walk towards the east one block you' ll find the public library and the centre for the performing arts, 2 Queen Elizabeth theater, 2.5 from Holy rosary Cathedral, 3 blocks BC Place Stadium and if you just walk to the end of the block you' ll find yourself at the beginning of Robson St. which if you keep walking along Robson St. you' ll find lots of shopping. If you walk to the west side of the building you' ll be in Yaletown, and you just need to walk one block to be at the beginning of the shops and restaurants. It is about 4 blocks from the sky train Yaletown Station.

If you have a dog, you and your puppy will love the building, it will have Vancouver' s first dog walk and wash area. As for the rest of the amenities, the Beasley will have a gym, a library, a meeting room and a party room.

The name of the building is a tribute to Larry Beasley who was the Director of Planning at Vancouver' s City Hall. Beasley is credited for pioneering the "Living First" strategy for Downtown Vancouver which made it a model for city planners worldwide. His achievements in land use and transportation planning along with careful development management have dramatically reshaped Vancouver' s city centre.

The developer behind "The Beasley" is Amacon, whom in the past has brought to life projects such as: "The Melville", "Brava" and "The 501" just to mention a few buildings on its large portfolio of architecturally beautiful buildings.
