These 251 homes consist of one and two bedroom condos and exclusive three-bedroom townhomes and city homes, built to Townline's high standards with thoughtful layouts and quality finishes. Residents' daily lives are enhanced with 13,000 square feet of outstanding indoor and outdoor amenities, including a fitness studio, business centre, electronic parcel delivery room, an entertainment and dining lounge that opens onto the outdoor social lounge, and a children's play area.

The Holland—parkside living with doorstep access to a vibrant urban city centre.

NEIGHBOURHOOD

A CONNECTED COMMUNITY

Two major transit hubs are a short 10-minute walk from home. Hop on the SkyTrain at Surrey Central Station for quick and seamless access to New Westminster, Burnaby, Coquitlam, and downtown Vancouver. A future proposed transit expansion is on the horizon to further link this connected community to Guildford, Newton, and Langley, bringing other communities even closer to home.

INSPIRED PARKSIDE LIVING

Home neighbours 25 acres of green, recreation, and entertainment spaces at Holland Park, Surrey's adaptation of New York's Central Park, which includes sports fields, basketball courts, a playground, an amphitheatre, and elegant gardens. This central urban park is also home to major community events, including Fusion Festival and Movies Under the Stars. Thoughtfully programmed and expansive in scale, this sprawling community green space—unparalleled throughout the city—sits right at your doorstep.

CULTURE AND LIFESTYLE

The city is moving forward with a diverse community and optimistic future. From recreation to brew pubs to university campus events, there are endless social and entertainment opportunities in Surrey's lively downtown core. A wide variety of shops and services are only minutes away by foot, and even more retail, offices, and recreational spaces are planned for the near future, adding to the vibrancy of this energetic urban centre.

THRIVING URBAN GROWTH

With an ambitious economic plan, the City of Surrey has become one of the fastest growing municipalities in British Columbia. The increase in employment opportunities, particularly in the tech industry, the academic possibilities available at institutions such as Simon Fraser University and Kwantlen Polytechnic University, and the ever-growing transit network make Surrey a promising city to invest in.
