If you're in the market for a condominium suite with panoramic views and a massive amount of outdoor space, then one high-end project in West Vancouver has the perfect penthouse in mind.

Penthouse 1 – 701 in Courtenay has 1,310 square feet of private terrace space on the top level of this luxury hillside development on Burfield Place. This penthouse is the last suite available in the 39-unit mid-rise collection developed by British Pacific Properties.

On three sides of this grand three-bedroom-plus-den suite, the future owner will have access to a wraparound outdoor terrace with stunning views of the Vancouver city skyline and ocean.

The largest portion of the terrace, which winds around the unit's southwest corner and along the southern side, can be accessed from the chef's kitchen, living area and master bedroom. Architectural drawings show that the terrace can easily accommodate an outdoor dining space and seating areas.

On the penthouse's eastern side, an exterior courtyard leads into the main entryway, surrounded by what looks to be raised, landscaped gardens.

The suite's 3,713-square-foot interior boasts plenty of lavish features, including a separate spice kitchen, laundry room and a large dressing room off of the master bedroom. Integrated Miele appliances, a full-height wine fridge and in-floor heating in the master bathroom are a few of the high-end features and finishes each penthouse will provide, along with engineered hardwood flooring and quartz countertops.
